2. The briefing consisted of a 1 1/2 hour presentation outlining the origins of US concern about the importance of the tech-transfer issue and what has been done by the intelligence community in the last few years to stem the flow to the USSR. [redacted] described the TTIC mechanism and how it works. He also discussed US efforts to heighten awareness of the problem among allied nations and to urge them to tighten up on sensitive exports to the USSR.
Lastly, [redacted] gave specific examples of the types of Western technology the USSR has exploited for the more rapid development of its military equipment. Mr. Nealer's objective--to brief Senate Minority Leader Robert Byrd on tech transfer--will be greatly facilitated by today's briefing.
